European Situation Clouded by Doubt

RUNCIMAN'S ASSISTANCE MUCH APPRECIATED

Berlin, Sept. 2.

It is authoritatively stated that no decisions or commitments were made or given at the Berchtesgaden conferences. They were merely arranged to hear Herr Konrad Henlein's report on the developments of negotiations with the Czecho-Slovakians. This means that the fear of war has been postponed for a fortnight; but it does not mean a solution of the Czech-Sudeten quarrel.

However, German observers do not doubt that Lord Runciman's influence has won concessions for the minorities which exceed in generosity any possible Czech offers.

An alleged mid-September deadline is accepted as additional evidence that the Germans do not intend to submit to long negotiations in completion of the settlement.

Meanwhile, it is anticipated that Dr. Edouard Benes, Czech President, will deliver a radio address on the latest proposals for settlement. The German press is still emphasising "the plight" of the Germans in Czecho-Slovakia.

As a diplomatic basis to the climax, it is learned German diplomats all over the world have been instructed to inform governments to which they are seconded, that the crisis is most serious and they are convinced peaceful solution must be found soon. -United Press.

Conferees Disperse

Berlin, Sept. 2. Herr Jonchim von Ribbentrop, the Foreign Minister, left Berchtesgaden at 2.30 p.m. by air for Berlin. Herr Konrad Henlein, the Sudeten leader, left by car for Prague. It is understood that Herr Henlein left with the Fuchrer's views on the Intest offer by the Czech Government. It is stated that the next move lies with the President of Czech-Slovakia,

Dr. Edouard Benes, and his Cabinet. While there is no inkling regarding their content, there is ground for the belief that the Czech proposals are regarded in Berlin as being not defined with sufficient clearness to latisty the Sudeten aspirations.—

Encouraging News

Prague, Sept. 2. The meeting between the President, Military Command, at which Dr. Edouard Benes, and the Sudeten leaders, Herr Kundt and Herr Sebedkovsky, lasted until almost 2 p.m. This is regarded as encouraging and, coupled, with news that Herr -Hitler agrees with the views express-

Although no statement has transpired regarding the interview between Dr. Benes and the German delegates, it is believed that the delegation pressed for guarantees that the Government would fulfil its pledges regarding concessions, and insisted on a short period of proximately three months for the full Air Ministry announcement issued execution of the programme.

It is now considered probable that to-morrow.

London, Sept. 2.

In a speech at Aberdeen to-day the U.S. Ambassador, Mr. Joseph P. Kennedy, spoke at some length on the international situation.

GENERAL OFFENSIVE LAUNCHED ALONG YELLOW RIVER BANK

Two Important Towns Taken; Attack Nears Menghsien

Hankow, Sept. 2.

In an effort to clear the Japanese troops from the north bank of the Yellow River in north-western Honan, opposite Loyang, the Chinese forces in the Taihanshan mountains have launched a general offensive in an attempt to push southwards towards the waterway.

It is claimed in Chinese despatches received here from Chinese headquarters that the important cities of Chiyuan and Sinyang have been re-captured, and the Chinese are now converging on Menghsien, on the north bank of the river.

In north-western Anhwei the Chinese continue to watch closely the movements of the Japanese forces following the fall of Liuan and Hoshan. .. Chinese military reports claim that the Chinese are holding the hills west of Liuan, while the Japanese at Hoshan are moving northward, probably in an attempt to outflank the Chinese west of Liuan and also to join in the west-

ANTHONY WEYMOUTH How to feel good when it's hot

THE first thing that happens when a -hot spell comes along is that your energy flags and you feel "like nothing on

If you know why you feel like this it's not difficult to see what to do to cure it.

The temperature of the body is kept more or less stationary by a nerve-centre which controls heatdistribution. When the temperature of the air rises, your body adjusts itself by increasing the quantity of hent lost from the skin.

If the heatwave comes suddenly, or if you're not very good at perspiring, you may fall in this adjustment-and it is this which makes you feel tired or ill.

Your body generates heat by burning the food you eat. You can keep the temperature of your body down, (a) by eating less food, and choosing the food which produces less heat; (b) by increasing the loss of heat from your body.

A hot atmosphere causes the blood-vessels of the skin to dilate: more blood circulates through the skin and you sweat. If there is a wind you lose more heat still by the movement of the nire which evaporates the moisture.

Be Careful When You Select Flower Vases

IDA GIBSON

IN order to make the most of flowers it is necessary to have sufficient vases of different types— each one suitable for certain kinds of flowers.

If you have but a few long-stemmed blooms, then it is better to choose a vase with a rather narrow neck, the top of which curves inwards. There are some good specimens of this kind of vase to be had, with wide, bottleshaped centres and thin necks. It is surprising to find how well-balanced on arrangement of half-a-dozen blooms can appear in this kind of vase,

When, however, you have a large supply of flowers, a receptacle which has the top curving generously outward will display them to the best odvantage.

SHAPE OF A BASKET

QUCH vases as this may be of medium size, or they may be much larger, of basket shape, or in the form of outward-curving glass pails. But in any event they should be just deep enough to enable the end of each stem to reach practically to the base of the vase, for it is only in this way that the flowers can be persuaded to keep in position and also to remain fresh as long as pos-

For smaller postes of mixed flowers, tiny globular vases are charming, when several of them are used together. Four or six may decorate the centre of a dining table or several of them may be placed just beneath the blg vases of larger flowers.

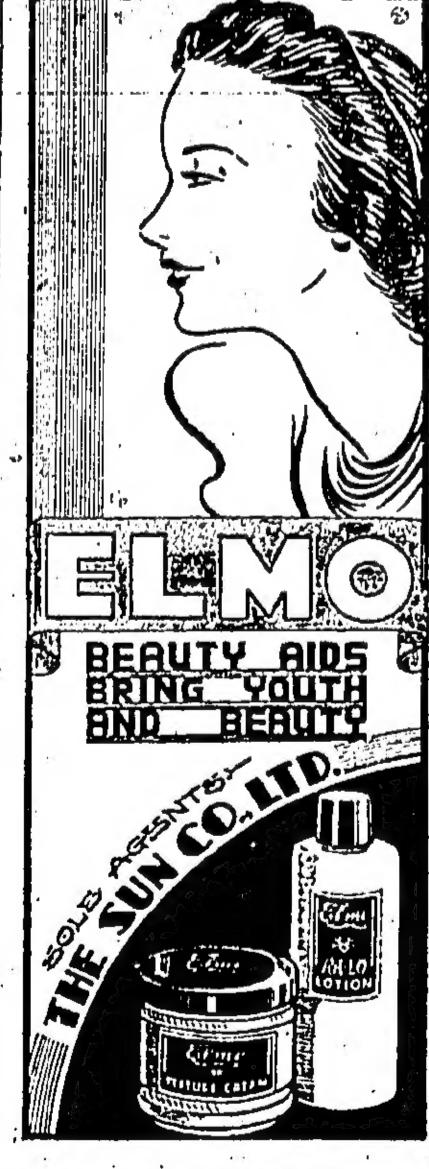

POSIES

BUT when you have sufficient flowers for one medium-sized posy then a special wide, fint glass container, with a cavity in the centre for the flowers is more suitable. This type of container shows off the flowers to perfection, and a small posy can, apparently, achieve much larger proportions. For narrow ledges there are vases which are wide and fairly high but narrow from back to front. They fulfil their purpose admirably, and here, again, a few flowers can make a charming display against the right background.

Tomato Rarebit

SLICE three large tomatoes and simmer in a saucepan with sait and pepper, a pinch of sugar, and a tenspoonful of grated onion. Rub through a sieve. Put the pulp into a saucepan with four ounces of finely grated cheese. Stir until the cheese melts and put on the toast.

GLIDE-CONTROL FLAPS

The outstanding feature of the Monarch is the glide control by flaps which can be actuated with There is something subtlely compellate the throttie. This is a new feature, ing about Margaret Sullavan's acting proof when it comes to landing, just plausible enough to hold your Even when there is no wind—and interest and somehow to get your there was very little when I flew it emotions quite genuinely caught up—it can be flown in over the edge in a strange little half-cynical fairy of the aerodrome at a height of about tale. 200 feet. Speed is reduced, the flaps are lowered, and the machine sinks to the ground in a steady glide of from 60-65 miles an hour.

Instead of landing far up the aerodrome, as might have been expected, one finds that the machine has stopped near the boundary of the aerodrome over which it passed. The difficulty of judging the glide-in to land, always a bugbear to inexperienced pilots is, thus, almost climin-

On any average-sized aerodrome one can be inside the orea of the nerodrome before starting to land. Moreover, the pilot has the comforting feeling that, if he has made an error in his approach, he can immediately raise the flups, either by opening the throttle or by advancing the flap lever, without any risk of causing the machine to sink.

This feature of the Monarch, which is known as the Miles glide-control flap, must be tried to be appreciated. It certainly makes the aeroplane easier to land—and, if necessary, to land in a confined space-than any that I have previously flown.

WIDE UNDERCARRIAGE

Landing is also assisted by an exceptionally wide undercarriage, Bendlx brakes and Lockheed air-draulic struts, which are designed to withstand a vertical drop of 15 feet a

The cabin is roomy and luxuriously appointed. The field of view obtainable through the one-piece wind-screen is excellent. The machine is easily manoeuvrable, and the speed is all that the makers claim. I found that the machine, with the engine throttled down to 2,050 revolutions a minute would easily maintain its cruising speed of 125 miles an hour. This, though not fast according to modern standards, should be ample for most private owners unless they belong to that limited class of civil pilots that is always trying to set up records: In short, the Miles Monarch is a most pleasant and easy machine to fly and should be one of the most popular machines among civil pilois for some years to come.

A report of the meeting issued to the Runciman Mission shows that the whole problem was thoroughly discussed, and it is apparent that the Czech Government has now left the task of negotiation in the hands of, Dr. Benes.

It is also apparent that the new Government proposals are not entirely satisfactory to the Germans, who want a system based on recognition of their absolute equality.

Lord Runciman's happy initiative has certainly helped to clear the air. The idea of a direct appeal to Herr Hitler seemed risky but has been justified by success.

Mysterious Withdrawal From Concessions In Tientsin

London, Sept. 2. "THE KID" ACCUSES MOTHER

Hollywood. WHEN JACKIE COOGAN, former boy film sthr of "The Kid," married Betty Grabble last November, his mother allowed him only £12 for his honeymoon. Jackie made this statement in evidence in his £800,000 suit against his mother and stepfather, Arthur

L. Bernstein. He denied that Betty's mother had demanded money before she would consent to her daughter's marriage

Jackie admitted that he had been expelled from Santa Clara College in 1934 for drinking. He told the court that his father (who was killed the following year in a motoring accident) had induced him to take the pledge, after which he did not touch a drop of drink.

When Jackle left the court he did not kiss his mother, or even glance at her. Two days before Jackie had met his mother for the first time since he started his suit. They sat six feet apart, and neither gave any sign of recognition. During an adjourment, however, mother and son embraced in a lawyer's office.

Jackie's suit was brought earlier this year in the Los Angeles Superior Court. He claimed that his mother and step-father were withholding his £800,000 fortune from 18 films made while he was a minor. Judge Emmet Wilson appointed a receiver for all assets owned by

The outstanding questions are whether the concessions will be rejected, whether Herr Hitler Nuremberg will deliver an ultimatum to the Czechs and establish a deadline for a settlement in favour of the Sudetens, whether the presence of key men indicates that Herr Hitler is mapping out a programme of armed force, and whether Berlin's mobilisations will develop further, especially as it is to-day on a new realism, as a surprise air raid was held over Berlin with full defence phraseology, the almanae is turned up-side-down and placed before the household shrine of the Tel-chue or "God of the Soil", implying that the exoreiser is seeking its protection. After all this has been done, it is believed that the evil influence causing the illness will depart and the patient will then recover.

The Beauregards Case

66 TVERY day, Dumbell," La said Joshua Playfair, "brings forth its own peculiar problem."

Sergeant Dumbell stared hard at his boots. Finding no inspiration there, he said, noncommittally, "Yes, sir,"

Playfair's face relaxed. "You don't know what I'm getting

"I'm sorry, sir," said Dumbell, "To be perfectly frank, I don't."

His superior pushed aside his chair and began to pace up and down the room. "It's this Beauregards case," he said. "The burglary at Beauregards Castle, A baffling affair, Dumbell, Sixty-two thousand pounds-that's what the stolen goods are valued at." He glanced at the inventory in front of him, "Pictures; prints; china; bric-n-bric; armour. What a haul! Enough stuff to fill a respectable museum, driven off by night in a furniture van. And what maddens me is this. I know who took it all—."

Hearts are trumps. South leads and North-South have to win all the. cleven tricks.

Solutions by first post Wednesday to Bridge Problem, Hongkong Telegraph, Wyndham Street.

SOLUTION OF PROBLEM NO. 73

South wins with diamond queen and follows with queen of clubs which East wins, West discarding a spade. East returns queen of hearts which North wins, South discarding a spade. North leads the club which South wins, East discarding a dlamond and West another spade. South leads queen of spades which i West wins and whatever West relurns North-South win the remain-

If, at trick three, East leads a small diamond North wins with ten. South discarding jack of clubs. North wins with last club and (a) if East discards diamond nine North wine with king of diamonds and leads jack of hearts, and whether East wins or ducks North wins two of the last three tricks. If (b) East discards a small heart, North, by leading king of hearts and small heart will again win two of the last three tricks.

This problem seems to have been harder than I thought. The opening lead of a club which many favoured is easily beaten by West retaining all his spades and East leading back a diamond; West then simply ducks with spades until he wins with accnine. Others who got the first two leads correctly did not see that if East returned a small diamond at trick three South should throw his club master.

Dumbell produced a tobaccopouch. "Mind if I smoke, sir? . . . Would It help you, may I hak, if you could establish the connection?"

"It would," said Playfair promptly. "In two ways. In the first place, it would enable me to narrow my circle of inquiries. The personnel engaged in this case is costing the country far too much. In the second place-and this is more important-it would give me a prima facie, case for the issue of certain warrants."

HAD AGONISING PAINS IN HER BACK

Could Not Turn in Bed

Like many other sufferers from back-ache and rheumatic ailments, this woman decided to try Kruschen Salts in a last attempt to obtain relief from pain. To her surprise, the pains did grow less, and in a few months the backache had disappear-ed. Having made sure of the results, she now writes as follows:-

"For about four months I had agonising pains in my back, and could not turn in bed. During that time I tried various remedies, but obtained no relief, and was seriously considering going into hospital.

However, seeing a case similar to mine described in an advertisement for Kruschen, I thought I would try it, and was more than surprised to find the pain getting less. I have been taking Kruschen for four months, and would not be without it for anything. I must say I am free from those dreadful pains."-(Mrs.)

The six salts in Kruschen conx your kidneys back to healthy, normal action, so that not a particle of poisonous waste matter remains unexpelled. Your inside is thus kept clean and serene. You experience joyous relief from those old dragging kldney palns.
